Plans Made to Celebrate Secretly by Feast for City's Unfortunates.

Mrs. Finley J. Shepard, who was Miss Helen Miller Gould, and her husand will celebrate their first wedding anniversary quietly to-night in their lown house, No. 579 Fifth avenue.

At the same time on the Bowery, in Chinatown and Water street, and in fast wherever in the city a mission stands, thousands of homeless and hungry will be fed and housed for the night, on the Shepards' bounty. It is

At Hadley Rescue Hall it was said that beds would be provided for more than two hundred. In fact, directions had been received to find beds for all those without shelter who should apply for aid on the first anniversary of Mrs. Shepard's wedding night.

And one close to the Shepard said last night that this would be made an annual custom. Mr. Shepard regretted the publicity, and refused to discuss their plans for publication.

Every effort had been made by the theopards to keep this wedding anniversary celebration a secret. Strict orders had been issued to the secretaries who take care of these things not to make arrangements with the missions till yesterday morning. Upon the head of each mission the necessity for absolute secrety was impressed.
